Preparing the workshop · Participatory governance prototype

G4 · Proof of Sustainability

Why this tool matters

Moving beyond metaphorical participation to actually sharing power; it is the concrete transition from administrative authority to community-owned stewardship.

Evidence we produce

A tested and operational shared-governance arrangement that institutionalizes multi-actor collaboration and defines clear roles and responsibilities for long-term project stewardship.

Duration & Material

Duration · 6 months to 1 year of testing

Material · Governance charters, decision-making matrices, regular evaluation meetings

Reference case

The CLEVER Cities framework actively tests shared-governance approaches for urban nature-based solutions. Through "Action Labs" in cities like Milan, municipal actors, residents, and researchers co-create management models, testing how collaborative governance operates in practice before scaling these structures city-wide , , .
