Evidence we produce

A co-created spatial inventory of tangible assets (parks, local businesses) and intangible assets (cultural knowledge, trusted community leaders) that define the neighborhood's capacity,.

Duration & Material

Duration · 1 to 2 workshops (2 hours each), plus ongoing digital updates

Material · Large printed maps, multi-colored markers/stickers, digital mapping software, clipboards

Reference case

The ELFT QI Community Mapping Toolkit demonstrates how mapping assets ranging from physical spaces to local networks allows residents to highlight the unique value of their environment. By allowing different users to mark the map based on their individual experiences (e.g., adding pop-up bubbles with text on digital maps), organizations capture a truly holistic, asset-based view of the neighborhood's potential,.
