Why this tool matters

Abolishing the hierarchy between the planner and the inhabitant by walking the same ground, turning a rigid administrative procedure into a candid conversation among neighbors.

Evidence we produce

Direct, in-situ evaluation of the physical environment, immediate adjustments to proposed design interventions, and strengthened trust between technical staff and locals.

Duration & Material

Duration · 2 to 3 hours, ideally late afternoon

Material · Printed route maps, clipboards, sketchpads, pencils, refreshments

Reference case

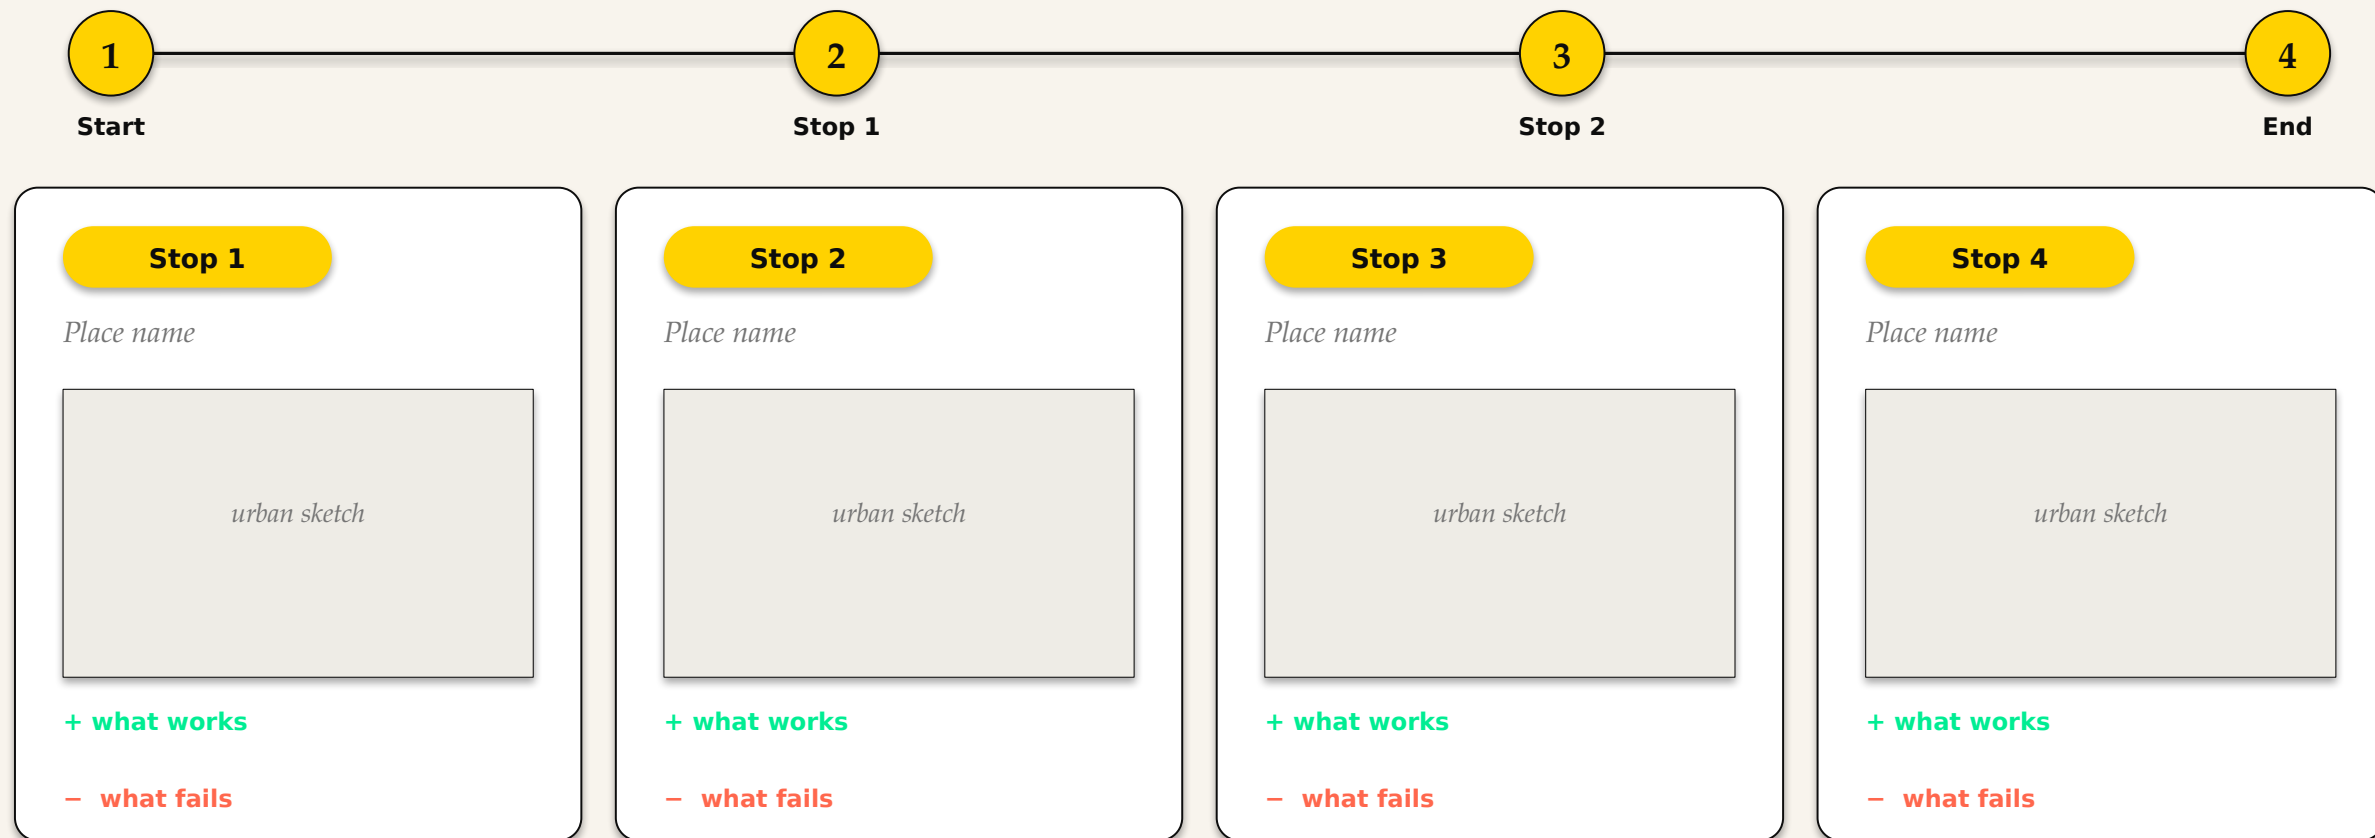

The City of Luxembourg runs "Apéri'tours", where the Mayor, Aldermen, and technical departments tour districts alongside residents. They combine walking, urban sketching, and small-group priority workshops to capture the essence of their neighborhoods and collaboratively identify details that require intervention.

Suggested agenda · Brief (10 min) > Method walk-through (15 min) > Animation canvas (60-90 min) > Harvest (20 min)

Walking route · 4 stops, 1 conversation

Duration
2 to 3 hours, ideally late afternoon

The route

Mission: Prioritize!

Each participant gets 3 stickers · vote on the most urgent intervention seen along the route.

Harvesting our learnings

After running the canvas, capture three layers of insight.

What inspires me

Stand-out signals, surprising stories, ideas to remember

How to apply it here

Concrete adaptations to our context, our team, our constraints

What we need to be autonomous

Skills, allies, resources, decisions still to secure

Each participant fills a copy. Then debrief together to surface patterns and next steps.
