Why this tool matters

Putting the power to flag neglect and demand care directly into the pockets of the residents, making the administration instantly accountable to the street.

Evidence we produce

A geolocated, real-time dashboard of citizen complaints, proposals, and feedback used to directly prioritize municipal maintenance and planning tasks,.

Duration & Material

Duration · Continuous deployment

Material · Civic tech platforms, mobile applications, GIS software, open data portals

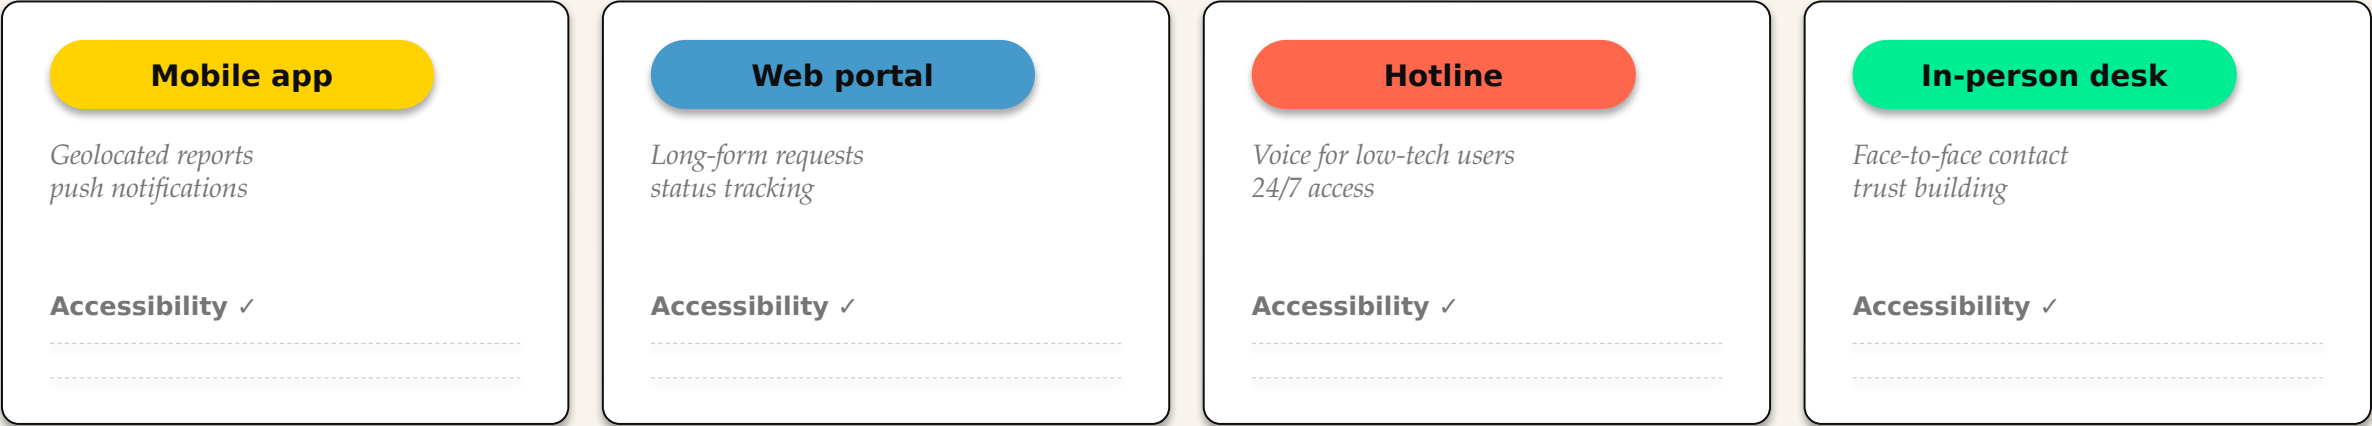

Reference case

Cities globally use mobile platforms like SeeClickFix and CitySourced to enable individuals to report localized issues directly to municipal services, significantly enhancing civic engagement. Similarly, the WeGovNow platform in Southwark (UK) and Turin (Italy) successfully registered over 10,000 users to solve local policy challenges, track infrastructure issues, and improve the quality of public discourse,.
