Why this tool matters

Putting the city's wallet directly into the hands of its inhabitants; proving that institutional trust is best measured by the actual sharing of financial power.

Evidence we produce

A portfolio of citizen-proposed projects that are legally approved, prioritized by popular vote, and financially backed by a dedicated portion of the municipal budget,.

Duration & Material

Duration · An annual cycle (ideation, evaluation, voting, execution)

Material · Digital participation platforms (Decidim, Consul), municipal budget allocation, technical evaluation grids

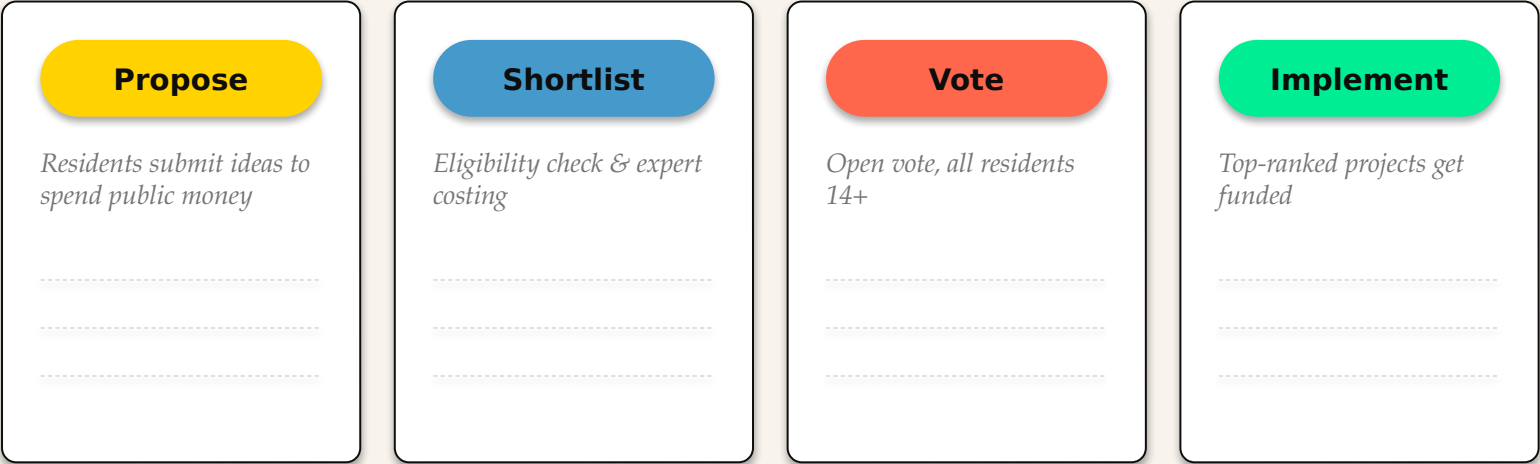

Reference case

The City of Barcelona uses the open-source platform Decidim to manage its participatory budgeting. The platform allows citizens to propose, debate, and vote on how to distribute public resources for neighborhood improvements. The software's open code ensures transparency and traceable decision-making, translating the concept of "We decide" into concrete financial allocations,,.

Suggested agenda · Brief (10 min) > Method walk-through (15 min) > Animation canvas (60-90 min) > Harvest (20 min)

Citizens propose · vote · decide allocation
