Why this tool matters

Giving residents a permanent, digital seat at the decision-making table, proving that democratic power can be shared openly and continuously beyond election days.

Evidence we produce

A transparent, traceable digital record of citizen proposals, debates, and voting outcomes that directly shapes public policy and defines concrete budget allocations.

Duration & Material

Duration · Continuous platform deployment; 6 to 12 months for a specific policy/budget cycle

Material · Digital participation platforms (Decidim, Consul), municipal budget allocation, technical evaluation grids

Reference case

The City of Barcelona utilizes the open-source platform Decidim to manage its participatory budgeting. The platform allows citizens to propose, debate, and vote on how to distribute public resources for neighborhood improvements. The software ensures transparency and traceable decision-making, translating the concept of "We decide" into concrete financial allocations and political action.

Suggested agenda · Brief (10 min) > Method walk-through (15 min) > Animation canvas (60-90 min) > Harvest (20 min)

Harvesting our learnings

After running the canvas, capture three layers of insight.

What inspires me

Stand-out signals, surprising stories, ideas to remember

How to apply it here

Concrete adaptations to our context, our team, our constraints

What we need to be autonomous

Skills, allies, resources, decisions still to secure
