Why this tool matters

Recognizing that the true wealth of a city resides not in its physical monuments, but in the songs, crafts, rituals, and memories carried in the minds and hands of its people.

Evidence we produce

A structured, community-validated database recording the oral traditions, artisanal skills, and social rituals inextricably linked to specific urban spaces.

Duration & Material

Duration · 3 to 6 months of community engagement and documentation

Material · Consent forms, audio/video recording equipment, standardized ICH inventory entries

Reference case

In Kingston, Jamaica, a UNESCO-supported project implemented community-based inventorying of intangible heritage in urban areas. This initiative empowered local residents to document their own living heritage, providing the essential evidence base required to promote culture-engaged, people-centered urban development models that respect local diversity.

Suggested agenda · Brief (10 min) > Method walk-through (15 min) > Animation canvas (60-90 min) > Harvest (20 min)

Five domains of intangible heritage

Duration
3 to 6 months of community engagement and documentation

Oral traditions language, storytelling	Performing arts music, dance, theatre	Social practices rituals, festivals	Knowledge of nature agro, healing, weather	Craftsmanship making, repairing
--	---	---	--	---

For each domain · who carries it, who learns it, what threatens it.

Harvesting our learnings

After running the canvas, capture three layers of insight.

What inspires me

Stand-out signals, surprising stories, ideas to remember

How to apply it here

Concrete adaptations to our context, our team, our constraints

What we need to be autonomous

Skills, allies, resources, decisions still to secure

Each participant fills a copy. Then debrief together to surface patterns and next steps.
