Why this tool matters

Cultivating a fertile ground where human creativity and risk-taking are nurtured by a supportive community, transforming isolated ideas into shared civic prosperity.

Evidence we produce

An interconnected map and database tracking local startups, incubators, venture capital flows, and academic spin-offs.

Duration & Material

Duration · 3 to 5 weeks

Material · Patent databases, investment heatmaps, regional enterprise registries, university tech-transfer data

Reference case

Platforms like Dealroom are utilized to measure the density and quality of local tech enterprises, analyzing investment data and venture capital flows to rank cities. The World Bank similarly emphasizes that tracking these innovation indicators allows municipalities to understand their competitive positioning and allocate resources to foster local entrepreneurship effectively.
